The Inconstant Set by M^r Jos^{ph} Jackson

As late as thuddy age of Boy on tender turf U. lac. is lay U. lac. swain Boy. A...

... lac. is man ton boy

The gay acin da spurred by Pastor breath'd the tender sigh Pastor a breath'd of tender sigh but Mi rasal was coy But

Mora fell was coy

The laughing Delia stole his look; And Laura glanced the wanton look; A hurt she would be kind; Bright Daphne on y fondly grew A signal gave a call to fly; But still the swain was blind.	Nor Pastorella's Mien could charm Nor Celias awful Presence warm, Nor Stella's Syren Tongue; But Miras Eyes Mien controul, And gazings all his raptur'd soul, Stood listening as she sung.

*But Ah when Mira learn'd to sigh
To Glance to rove the wanton Eye
To bless th' Inconstant Boy
As soon the faithless swain
Forsook the Nymph for eek the Plain
To find the Maid that's coy.*
