

The Nymphs & Swains set by Mr. Baildon

The Nymphs & Swains of sweetly play on sweeds, and banes or minding say ah say what happy Spot detains my Peggy since she left these plains say in what bow's beneath what shade soft slumb'ring the gentle Maid for love shall lend me wings to fly and pow'r full

Fancy place me nigh

Alas! the blisfull scene how chang'd, Where once we both with pleasure rang'd, Not half so fair & lilly springs, Not half so sweet the linnets sings, Haste then thou lovely fair once more Come to bless the Southern Shore, e lend thy Clouds shall smile as gay, As all thy sunny pride of may.	Let rather may the sales deny, The Beauties to my longing eye; If time a cruel change has wrought, On swed a sweeter Lesson taught, But should thy faithful Shepherd find His lovely Peggy still so kind, Then Absence shall thy Charms improve And I with double Rapture love!
